Combating antimicrobial resistance (AMR)

Antibiotic resistance is a global crisis that we cannot ignore. Ten million people could die each year due to multiresistant bacteria. It threatens to take us back to a time when people feared common infections and risked their lives from minor surgery. What makes me happy is that for once there is a problem that can be solved with a concerted effort. By working together, we can delay the inevitable and make an impact. As a film producer, my goal is to spread the news by producing impactful films addressing highly controversial subjects. I believe telling the story of AMR will help others become aware of the risk and make a change. Because all of us need to be resistance fighters.
